When the due diligence process is finalized and the parties have reached the final agreement, the seller and the buyer sign a private contract which specifies the terms and conditions which the parties have agreed on. The buyer pays 10 % of the purchase price minus the reservation fee of 6 000 Euro to the client account. 3. Traditionally the buyer's legal representative arranges an appointment for signing the public deeds at the Notary and preparing the new public deeds together with the seller's representatives. After the real estate crise in 2008 the valuations are usually quite conservative and often 10 to 15 percent under the actual sales price. The bank will normally approve a mortgage of 70 % of the valuation. If the valuation is higher than the sales price the bank will use the lowest value. The valuation will be ordered by the bank on behalf of the buyer, and the buyer pays the expenses. The prices can be around 400 euros for a normal apartment.
